Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.

London, Dec. 22.—Geoiges Cordere, the young Canadian officer who on Sunday was charged by a coroner's jury with the wilful murder of Sergt. Ozanne, a French Canadian, was arraigned in the Alton police court to-day. The prosecution alleged that Cordere was short of money and drew checks which were oution alleged that Cordere was short of money and drew cheeks which were dishonored and that he became possessed of Canadian notes to the value of f300 ($1,500), which were Ozanne's property, for the purpose of exchanging them.

It was charged that he exchanged the notes in London, resolved not to repay them and returned to Bramshait, where serving is stationed. There, the prosecution asserted, Cordere used f150 ($750) to honor two of his cheeks and then lured Ozanne to Grashait under the pretence that he want-d to repay him. The next morning Czanne's decapitated body was found in a barn, a knife and a blood stained towel lying beside him.
